What is a resin bound driveway?

Comprised of natural gravel or stone, encapsulated in a clear resin binder, to form an attractive, durable and permeable surface, a resin bound driveway with a permeable construction underneath is SUDS (Sustainable Urban Drainage System) compliant and does not require planning permission plus the smooth surface is very wheelchair friendly.

Why choose a resin bound driveway?

As the aggregate is encapsulated in a clear binder, there are no loose stones, meaning no stone loss and no sweeping gravel back into position. No weeds can grow so it requires minimal maintenance and is permeable so installing one requires no planning permission.

Most of all a resin bound driveway is attractive and really adds 'kerb appeal' to your property. There are a large number of aggregate blends available to suit any setting and we can even produce bespoke mixes on request for special projects.

Why choose us to install your driveway?

The resin paving industry is growing at a very fast pace but we have been here since its early days and pride ourselves on our wealth of knowledge and experience. Throughout the last 15 years we have built strong relationships with valued clients and are proud of our reputation. Our directors are involved in every project from the outset to ensure everything runs smoothly.

We install resin surfacing and flooring throughout the UK.
